

References

Author references and eventually the page number will be given in the text and/or in the footnote with respect to a complete list at the end of the paper, e.g. (Brown 2004: 33), (Black 1982), (White and Green 2000: 50), (Violet et al. 2004: 205), (Tempest 2005), (Tempest 2005a) or respectively, ...by Brown (2004:33), ...by Black (1982), ...see e.g. White and Green (2000: 50), ...see Violet et al. (2004: 205), ...by Tempest (2005), ...by Tempest (2005a).

Complete references should be listed at the end of the article in a style conforming to the following examples:

Brown, L. (2004). Comparison cartographic studies using analytical tools. Archives of Modern Cartography 11 (2): 32-35.

Black, P. (1982). A bridge between classical and modern analytical tools in history of maps. Venice: Arsenale.

White A. and G. W. Green (2000). A note on the degree of similitudes between the Sonetti and Piacenza isolaria. In E. Pinkred and M. Greenwhite (eds.), Studies on modern history of cartography research. Amsterdam: Springer, 46-57.

Violet C., K. Badaris, L. Lilipop (2004). An Inquiry on the inner geometry of old maps. Proceedings of the 2nd International Conference on History of maps, G. Tomias (ed.). Athens: National Map Foundation.

Tempest M. (2005). Comparison of coastline outlines in old maps. In digital form, www.mapresearch.com/tempest/papers_2005/research_file2.pdf

Tempest M. (2005a). Revisiting coastline patterns in early portolan maps. In digital form, XVI century portlan maps. Opt-disc, P. Lachetta (ed.), Strasbourg: Department of Geography, University Louis Paster.